

Mountain Girl

© Jenny Lester (SOCAN / BMI) 4/4 time Key of A written in G capo 2th fret

Chorus:

I'm a mountain girl who has come home
From the lights of the city burnin' out my soul
There aint no street lights on the canyon wall
The only glow is the moonlight making the shadows fall

Verse 1

I'd like to tell you about the places I have been Traveled round the world and now I've come back home again
Folded maps and photographs in a box of memories
Because of home they mean more to me

It's a lonesome highway among a million rushing cars
When all I need to comfort me is the twinkling of the stars
No passing by, no hiding from the rushing and the rage
Through the latch, let me out of this cage

Almost anything can feel romantic for a while
But you lose your lust for it when you're craving a real smile
On crowded streets where fashion meets the lost and hungry hearts
A want for more is where the city starts
